

[Automatic water shut off valve]

Abstract

A system for eliminating serious water bursts comprises of a main circuit box that can be activated by an alarm system, hard wire, wireless or by switch. Once the alarm system or switch is armed the main circuit box will send a signal to activate a solenoid valve that is interposed in a water main acting to stop water flow.